Area Description:

South of Tanjung Ayam, Johor, Malaysia

Name and Type of Ship:

MT Kirana Dwitya / Petroleum Product Tanker

Details of Incident

On 22 November 2008, a Singapore-registered tanker, the MT Kirana Dwitya was anchored at 01° 18.26' N 104° 12.34' E (about 2nm south of Tanjung Ayam, Johor) to perform tank cleaning. At about 0230 hrs, five suspected robbers armed with one pistol and four knives boarded the tanker from a speed boat. They entered the engine room and tied up two crew members.

One of the engineers spotted the robbers and immediately informed the Duty Officer who then reported the incident to the Master. The Master activated the alarm and made announcement to alert remaining crew. All crew members were mustered and subsequently conducted a search for the armed robbers but the robbers had fled the vessel upon hearing the alarm, taking with them some engine spare parts. There was no injury to the crew.

The ship master reported the incident to the local Marine Police in Johor as well as the Port Operations Control Centre (POCC), Singapore. The Singapore POCC transmitted a navigational broadcast on VHF & Navtex and informed the MRCC Putra Jaya and RCC Jakarta.
